My book will be published by the University of North Carolina Press, a non-profit scholarly publisher, in a small print run. I am responsible for paying all fees, so I would appreciate a waiver or reduction of fees. If you do not hold copyright in this material, please let me know to whom I should apply. Standard acknowledgment of title, author, and publisher will be given, or I will gladly use the credit line that you supply.

Rights requested: world rights for all editions (including digital formats), use in promotional materials (such as our catalog or to accompany reviews of this work), in subsidiary licenses (such as translations or book clubs), and versions made by nonprofit organizations for blind or physically handicapped persons.

I have provided the release below for your convenience. Please return the signed original request to me.

Sincerely,
